EDMONTON BULLETIN, SEPT. 2nd, 1900

INDIAN EDUCATION.

A contract for raising the wreck of the bridge across the Battle river at Battleford has been let to pupils of the Indian industrial school at that place. On this the Battleford Herald makes the following comment:

"Looking at the circumstances and surroundings of this carpenter's gang it is unjust to the general run of mechanics in the town that contracts should be taken for them at cut-throat rates, especially when it must be plain to them that they cannot carry out their undertakings. They are educated, trained, fed, clothed and housed at the expense of the government, so that whether their work brings a profit or not they have nothing to lose. It is creditable to all concerned that the boys have attained skill enough to practice their several trades; but it is not creditable to the management of the school nor fair to the taxpayers of the country that the funds of the government should be drawn upon to break wages below living rates."

The Herald's statement puts the case in a nutshell. If the Indian pupils become successful competitors with white artisans it is unfair to the white artisan who has been taxed that they might be educated to compete with him. On the other hand if they cannot compete successfully the money spent on their education is wasted. And the country cannot afford to waste money. The fact is that these Indian industrial schools were a mistake from the start. They undertook to do the impossible—that is make an Indian into a white man. Something that could not be done; and if it could should not be done at the white man's expense. If the purpose of the schools had been to educate the Indian children to be better Indians, that would have been all right, and probably would have been successful. But the purpose was to do the direct opposite, that is to educate them so that they would cease to be Indians. It was not possible to make them white men, but it was impossible to unfit them for successful and satisfactory Indian life and this is what has been done, to a very large extent, at a cost to the country of a quarter of a million a year, besides a large capital expenditure.

RESTRICTED IMMIGRATION.

On the question of immigration the Bulletin has always taken strong ground in favor of selected, as against indiscriminate immigration. For a time it appeared to be almost alone in the stand taken. But it was not isolated, it was only a little in advance of public opinion. The Westminster, a leading organ of the Presbyterian church in Canada, in a recent issue speaking of the government's action in restricting the incoming of certain immigrants from Roumania, says:

"It is to be hoped for many reasons that this is an unmistakable intimation of a settled purpose on the part of the Canadian authorities to undertake a regulation of immigration more strict than has ever yet been exercised in this country. However harsh it may seem to good people of humanitarian sympathies on both sides of the Atlantic, there must be some check on the permanent and effective kind imposed upon the reckless and indiscriminate importation of deleterious classes which has been going on under the stimulus of an indirect bonus to steamship companies and their European agents. The settlement of the Canadian Northwest and its future influences on the political destiny of the Dominion are matters of far too grave import to be left to mere chance. We are now in a position to choose whom we shall encourage or even permit to settle among us, and it is our obvious duty to choose deliberately and intelligently. The rabid anti-British sentiments of European foreigners in the United States during the South African war has opened the eyes of Canadians to the danger which threatens ourselves, and we will deserve a like degradation if we fail now to take the necessary precautions. It may be unhesitatingly assumed that nearly all European immigrants are now anti-British and will long remain so, even while residing in Canada."

The Press, of Neepawa, Man., under the apt heading of "We Can Choose" republishes the article, adding the comment "With which sentiments the Press is in full accord."

SIR CHARLES AND IMPERIAL FEDERATION
The following is published by the Globe as an English translation of a recent interview with Sir Charles Tupper published in Le Press, of Montreal. Sir Charles is anxious to appear in the English speaking provinces as the leading imperial federalist, but when addressing the people of Quebec his time is changed:

"As to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, you can say in effect that he is too English for me, with his programme of Imperial federation. At the time of the jubilee of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, Sir Wilfrid, faithful to his promise that he had made to the electorate, went to England, where he should have worked for a treaty of mutual preferential trade between England and Canada, which was besides one of the articles of the policy of Mr. Chamberlain.

"Instead of that Sir Wilfrid changed his notion, and sitting at the table with the lords and other political bigwigs of the United Kingdom, he trampled under foot his promises and poured out the floods of his eloquence in favor of the parliamentary federation of the empire.

"He even went on to say that Canada had no need of mutual preferential trade, after having previously said, in a speech made at Westmount, Montreal, that it was his intention to name a commission to devise ways and means of obtaining preferential trade. Imperial federation such as is preached by Sir Wilfrid would be a national plague; it would be, in a word, the abolition of our system of responsible government, giving the Imperial government the power to dictate laws to us. Aside from that, Canada would be taxed according to population for the maintenance of the Imperial government; that is to say, Canada would pay a tax of $46,000,000 simply for the maintenance of the English army, and the honor of being represented in a parliament sitting three thousand miles away.

"The prime minister's ideas of Imperial federation make thoughtful Canadians shiver their shoulders. That is why I say that Sir Wilfrid is too English for me. The sending of the Canadian contingents to Africa has been an excellent thing for Canada, and it is not upon that head that I base my remarks that he is too English."

THE BRITISH PREFERENCE.

While we in the west are inclined to consider that the tariff reductions made by the present government were not as much as they should be, it is as well that we should know that they are a great deal more than certain important interests in the east consider desirable. The Toronto World is next to the Montreal Star the chief apostle of protection to manufacturers. In a recent issue the World contained the following letter signed "A Manufacturer," cheerily written and commented on elsewhere in the World for the purpose of creating dissatisfaction in the minds of the manufacturers with the reductions under the preferential feature of the tariff. The headings to the letter are:

"That Fielding interview."
"A manufacturer says the Finance Minister made a statement contrary to the facts."

"Preferential tariff unfair."
"And a deputation representing 12,000 persons got the most unfeeling treatment from him."

Editor World: Referring to the interview with Mr. Fielding, published in this morning's issue of your paper, if he made the statement printed in that interview, namely, "I believe that the policy gave entire satisfaction to the business men of the country," he told an absolute untruth, and he must have known he was making a statement quite contrary to the facts.

An influential deputation of manufacturers, representing investments of nearly $15,000,000 and the employment of 12,000 persons, waited upon Mr. Fielding, and furnished him with statistics and facts which proved conclusively the unfairness of the preferential tariff to their industry and interests.

Mr. Fielding's treatment of the deputation was so utterly unfeeling and his manner so indifferent that the deputation were discouraged, and no further efforts were made, although some members of the cabinet told individuals members of the deputation that the preferential tariff was unfair and some relief should be given, but, unfortunately, they were men of no influence in the councils of the party although holding cabinet positions. The treatment received by the deputation referred to was so unsatisfactory that manufacturers in many other lines, who were waiting the result of the interview with Mr. Fielding, looked upon it as a hopeless case, and declined to go to the expense and loss of time of going to Ottawa to receive the same treatment; therefore, they dropped the matter.

If Mr. Fielding could hear the expressions of opinion throughout the whole country, as to his obstinacy and ignorance of fiscal matters, he would not feel quite so satisfied in his mind. It is to be hoped, in the interests of the country, that there will soon be a change of government.

Toronto, Aug. 21.

C. P. R. TAXES IN MANITOBA.

Winnipeg Tribune: "The cheque for the half yearly tax has not yet been received from the C. P. R.," said Hon. Mr. Davidson today, "but I have been assured by a solicitor of the company that the money will be paid and I have no doubt that there will ultimately be no difficulty about the matter. The sworn statement of the company as to their earnings in the province has not yet been received, but judging from their admission made at the time the legislation was passed, it was about $2,500 per mile, and the total amount of taxes for the half year will be about $35,000. Of course it will be larger than that after next year."

Winnipeg Tribune: T. A. Burrows, M. P. P. of Dauphin, is in the city, and reports a very fair crop of wheat and oats for the Dauphin district. The harvest is progressing rapidly, and something of the nature of a boom was being felt in Dauphin.

FEDERAL POLITICS IN B. C.

A Vancouver despatch of Oct. 23rd says that Hon. Jos. Martin will not offer for a federal constituency at the coming elections, but will take part in the contest as an independent liberal, criticizing or approving as he believes right.

Ex-Lieut.-Governor McInnis may take part in the elections in Western Ontario, where he formerly lived.

A liberal convention will be held at Revelstoke on Sept. 5th. It is thought that Mr. Bostock, the sitting member will decline to be a candidate. W. A. Gallacher, of Nelson, formerly of Leitch bridge, is mentioned as a possible liberal candidate.

There is likely to be a three cornered fight in Westminster district. Mr. Morrison will again be a candidate.

W. B. Sloan is mentioned as a probable independent liberal candidate in Nanaimo, in the place of W. W. B. McInnis.

Neither liberal nor conservative parties are a happy family in the Pacific province.

WELCOME HOME.

Quebec, Aug. 24.—The steamship Lake Ontario arrived at 5 o'clock this afternoon with a batch of 119 Canadian soldiers invalided home from South Africa. They were given a rousing reception. The vessel was met by a steam launch and yachts before entering the port, which escorted it to its moorings. It is estimated that some 30,000 citizens were on Dufferin terrace and other points of vantage on the city front. On disembarking the men were met by Mayor Tanguay, who read an address of welcome. "Canada," said the address, "greet your return with unmingled joy, bringing home as you do a record of honor which sheds lustre upon our country." Headed by local bands the men lined up to march to the citadel, but hundreds of relatives and friends who had come to Quebec to meet them, invaded the ranks, boisterously greeting the returning soldiers and destroying all semblance of discipline. Some of the men were carried on the shoulders of their admirers, and before the procession had gone far there were more civilians than soldiers in it. Amid the greatest enthusiasm, with flags flying in all directions, the men were escorted to the citadel, where they are quartered at present. They will be paid off to-morrow and proceed to their homes.

Lethbridge News: W. N. Clarke, of Strathcona's Horse, writing to a friend in Cranbrook, on 3rd of July, from Standerton, mentions that Major Laur's brother of Wm. Laurie, of town, was placed in the hospital at Landgraaf. It is presumed suffering from the effects of exposure to the inclement weather.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, SEPT. 3RD, 1900

EDMONTON DISTRICT LAST YEAR.

The following is the report of R. A. Rattan, land agent at Edmonton, to the department of interior for the year 1899:

The number of homestead entries granted is 946, as compared with 815 for the preceding year; the sales of Canadian Pacific Railway lands number 350 for 1899, as against less than half that number for 1898. This does not tell the whole story. During the past year lands held by corporations and by individuals, which had for many years lain idle and unproductive, have passed into possession of newcomers to the district, at prices ranging from $3 to $12 per acre; the purchasers intend permanent occupation; and their presence in the formerly sparse communities will serve a most useful and wholesome purpose in lessening the burdens of the farming population, in facilitating the erection of school districts, and in their subsequent maintenance; in the prosecution of necessary public works, roads, bridges, etc., and, in short, in adding to the strength which results from unity; in reducing all the evils which belong to isolation. The consolidation in settlement, the improvements in farm dwellings, in barns, etc., the erection of elevators and flour mills in addition to the pork-packing plants of Edmonton and Calgary, the erection of the Burns' abattoir in Calgary, the building of churches and schools in towns and country; all these things, and many more, speak eloquently of the present vigorous, healthy and progressive condition of the agricultural industry in Northern Alberta.

From one end of the district to the other one may encounter none but prosperous and contented settlers. Even the newcomers (who have got, as yet, but little produce from their own farms), have, in the fair wages to be earned, shared in the general good fortune.

The existing prosperity is largely due to the intelligent action of the railway companies in reducing the rate on farm produce shipped to British Columbia.

An important benefit to the whole community has flowed from the increased flour-milling facilities which we now enjoy and which, I am happy to say, are likely to be still further enlarged in the near future. It is due to these mills that wheat has sold largely at Edmonton above its export value. We may depend upon it that every flour mill successfully operated in the district is, in a certain degree, a guarantee that the farmer shall get more nearly than he could otherwise hope to do, the full value of his wheat.

It is estimated that the whole crop of cereals amounts to about two and a quarter millions of bushels, three quarters of a million being wheat and the balance oats, with a small quantity of barley. About half of the wheat appears to have been injured consequent upon its having been cut too green in fear of the frost, which we most fortunately escaped. Owing, however, to the high price now ruling for pork (6 cents per lb. live weight) it is possible that our farmers may make more money out of the inferior grain which they feed to hogs than the better quality grain which is sold. It is no doubt due to the increased pork packing which is now being done in Edmonton and Calgary that live stock fetches the present satisfactory prices, and that its value is likely to be permanent.

Oats have been an exceptionally fine crop this year, and it is secured that it is quite an ordinary year to find white milling oats weighing 45 to 46 pounds per bushel.

The oats in the Edmonton district are, in yield and quality, unsurpassed. There is already one oatmeal mill in Strathcona, but none in the town of Edmonton; and I hope as soon as our railway connection shall have been established we shall have no difficulty in securing the erection of a first class mill on the north side of the river, to the general advantage of the proprietors, the farmers and the town of Edmonton.

The action of the Canadian Pacific Railway company in importing thoroughbred cattle and hogs, for the government of the live stock in Alberta is commendable. Spirited enterprise such as this, following the reduction in transport rates, is likely to go far to convince the settlers of the company's good will, and that its management clearly recognizes the fact that the prosperity and contentment of any region are the best basis upon which to rest the railway shareholders' hope of future traffic and profit.

In conclusion, I am happy to say that the demonstration of the success of agriculture in Alberta, the abundant signs of prosperity, visible everywhere, the evident satisfaction of the settlers, constitute a potent immigration agent.

cr. The people here are enthusiastic as to the climate, soil, crops, and most bet probability; they are urgent in their favorable representations to friends abroad. The results must be a rapid influx of settlers from Eastern Canada and from those states of the union in which free or cheap land is no longer procurable to meet the necessities of the people.

Canada need have no doubt or fear as to the future of the Western Territories. It has taken a long time perhaps to demonstrate their value; but that the demonstration is at length complete is attested by the multitude of comfortable homes, and the other evidences of prosperity, which greet one at every turn, over the vast region lying between the Red River and the Rocky Mountains.

NORTHWEST APPLES.

In the year 1887 some seeds of the Pyrus bicolorata, a wild form of Siberian crab apple, were obtained by the Ottawa experimental farm, from Russia, and in 1890, and 1891, young trees grown from the seed were sent to the farms at Brandon and Indian Head, where they have grown most successfully, have proved hardy and are bearing fruit abundantly. As this was the first variety of apple that had been successfully introduced, experiments were instituted to improve the size and quality of the fruit, which in its native form is not much larger than a cherry and is often quite astringent. An account of these experiments is given in the last report of the director of the experimental farms.

In the spring of 1894 this Siberian crab apple was crossed with several varieties of hardy apples, and also with some of the larger crabs. In this way 160 thirty young trees were obtained and during the past season 30 have fruited and several have borne heavy crops. Five varieties have been selected as most promising. The largest is a cross of the hardy Tetofsky apple, with the Siberian crab. The fruit is described as 1 1/2 inches across, 1 1/4 inches deep, of a uniform yellow color, very attractive in appearance; flesh yellow, solid, crisp, juicy, mildly acid with a pleasant flavor and slightly astringent. The skin is thin and the fruit bakes well.

A cross of the Wealthy apple with the Siberian crab is 1 1/2 inches across, 1 1/4 inches deep, skin smooth and of a deep red color, while the flesh is a pale yellowish pink, firm, crisp and juicy, sub-acid and of fair quality. It bakes well. The other three varieties are smaller, but possess many good qualities. Prof. Macoun, the horticulturist of the experimental farms, does not expect that these new fruits will be much esteemed where larger fruits can be grown, but he says that if they can be grown without special care or protection by farmers generally throughout the Northwest country and the colder sections of Ontario and Quebec where the large sized apples do not succeed, they will prove a great boon to the settlers in those districts, and furnish a wholesome and healthful addition to the food of the people. He says that as five good sorts have been found among the thirty-six of these crosses which have fruited—it is probable that many other equally good, or possibly superior, sorts will occur among the many cross-bred trees—about 270 now growing at Ottawa—which have not yet fruited. As the more useful of the hybrids bear fruit, the seeds of the finest specimens will be sown, and it is thought that in time an increase in size and improvement in quality of the fruit may be expected. The horticulturist in his report says that "within a few years we shall doubtless have from these sources a considerable number of useful sorts of apples ripening at different periods in the season, which will endure the climate of all the settled parts of the Northwest country."

PRAISE FOR EFFICIENT SERVICE.

The Mounted police report 1899, contains the following references by Major Griestack to the services of several members of the police force in this district:

"I have pleasure in bringing to your notice the good and efficient services of Staff-Sergeant Evans and Sergeant Aston of my division, in bringing to justice the suspected murderers of the late Nelson Hagle, of Lacombe; more than a year elapsed from the time of the murder, in June, 1898, until the arrest of Mrs. Hagle in October, 1899, during which time Staff-Sergeant Evans was quietly and steadily working on this case, which he ultimately brought to a successful termination. The smart arrest of the other, T. A. Giesley, near Kamourang, B. C., by Sergeant Aston was not only most creditable to himself but to the force generally. The good work done by Corporal Trotter, of the Fort Resolution detachment, calls for commendation. These non-commissioned officers, several hundred miles from headquarters, had to face not only great difficulties and hardships, but also danger to their lives before they succeeded in arresting and bringing to Fort Saskatchewan the murderers Pay-u, Nape-sous and Paul Sabourin."

From correspondence in the Yorkton, (Assn.), Enterprise it is evident that a bad feeling exists between the ranchers and Doukhobors, and it is not unlikely to result in violence, as threats are freely used. The Doukhobors are charged with breaking fences, stealing hay, etc., Two are held on bail at $200 each, five were committed for trial and five were discharged. Other cases will soon be tried.

THE MARCH TO MAKING.

The correspondent of the London Weekly Times, writing from Making, on June 20th, says:

"The siege and relief of Making are now ranked amongst the glorious records of the British army, and the names of its brave defenders and gallant commander are known all over the civilized world, but in the midst of all these enthusiastic rejoicings we have overlooked one of the finest forced marches which has ever been made, and this, too, by troops which have been sent to help the mother country by her colonies."

"On April 18th C Battery of the Royal Canadian Artillery, under Major Hudson, received orders to proceed to Cape Town and embark for Beira, where they were to form part of the Rhodesian Field Force under General Sir Frederick Carrington. The following morning they left Stellenbosch and did a forced march of 30 miles into Cape Town, and sailed on board the Columbia with their guns, the same evening."

"Arriving at Beira on April 22nd, they disembarked on the following day, and part of the battery left for the same evening on route for Marandellas, where the general had established his base camp. The remainder of the battery started for the same destination the following morning, accompanied by four officers and 100 non-commissioned officers and men of the Queensland Mounted Infantry, who were detailed as escort to the guns. Despite having to unload the guns and baggage at Bambo Creek, where the narrow gauge ends, and to load everything on the broad gauge wagons, the first part of the contingent reached Marandellas on April 26th, after a journey in open trucks, on what is certainly one of the worst railways in the world of 380 miles, the remainder arriving on the following day. General Carrington considered it advisable that, if possible, more artillery should be with Colonel Plummer's column, and made his plans accordingly. The outcome shows with what precision they were made and how excellently they were carried out by the men entrusted with them. It must be borne in mind that both guns and escorts were without horses or mules, so the 'Salsbury to Bulawayo' coaches and animals were monopolized by the general's orders, to be exclusively at his disposal until the column was safely through. Two guns left Marandellas on April 30th, the remainder following on May 1st and 2nd, and reached Bulawayo on the 6th, a distance of nearly 300 miles. On arrival there they immediately untrained and proceeded to Ootzi, where the line was cut, and, detouring, did a forced march of over 60 miles, and joined Colonel Plummer's column at that place on the 14th. Colonel Plummer moved the same day and met the southern column under Colonel Mahon at Jan Massius, and relieved the long-besieged Making on May 10th, after a march of 33 miles."

"In order to appreciate the pluck and perseverance shown by the Canadian artillery and Queenslanders on this occasion, one must consider the obstacles they had to contend with on the lines of march. To start with, many of the men arrived at Marandellas without coats, as these had been burned off their backs by sparks from the engine, which is fed by wood fuel and does not carry a spark protector on the funnel. The rolling stock is absolutely deficient, and the men sat in open trucks on their ammunition, baggage, etc., exposed to the great heat by day and at night to a biting cold and fever mist, which makes itself felt soon after sundown; add to this the constant danger by fire, which had to be very carefully guarded against on account of the ammunition. At Marandellas, when every available coach and wagon had been crowded, it was found that the men would have to sit on top of the ammunition and baggage, so that once more they were forced to undergo the severe trial of having to sit through the long day's journey in a mule wagon, very much overcrowded, and often unable to move in order to change their positions and relieve their strained and cramped limbs. Yet they did it without a murmur, and reached their destination, a distance of nearly 700 miles, which they had completed by train and mule wagon in eight days. Their journey from Stellenbosch to Making, via Cape Town, a distance of 3,130 miles, was accomplished in 33 days, and included, roughly speaking, 1,900 miles by sea, 120 miles marching, 300 miles by mule wagons, and nearly 800 miles by train."

BRITISH PRAISE FOR DE WET.
Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the foremost British newspaper military critic, is unstinted in his praise of De Wet, "Honour to whom honour is due," he says, "and the first time an English cavalry leader, acting under the same conditions as now surround De Wet, captures 1,000 men, half of them cavalry, breaks up lines of communication, and plays general 'old Harry' with a force of something very near 80,000 men, then I shall speak of him in terms of approbation."

De Wet, thinks Mr. Burleigh, will be the model for cavalry students of the future to follow. "His methods will be studied and his practice followed."

POLICE MEDALS.

An Ottawa despatch of Aug. 26th, says that the government has decided to issue rebellion medals of 1885, to the mounted police. This is an act of justice, which was denied by the late government.

WOUNDED HORSES ON THE BATTLEFIELD.

The Rev. F. Lawrence, hon. secretary of the church society for the promotion of kindness to animals, was received at the Elisee Palace this morning by General Dubois, chief secretary to President Loubet. The president to give Mr. Lawrence an audience, and owing to the presence of the Shah of Persia in Paris, and the pressure on the president's time, due to the assassination of the King of Italy, M. Loubet deputed General Dubois to act in his stead. Mr. Lawrence handed General Dubois a brief memorandum setting forth the objects of his mission, and pointing out that the Geneva convention is an agreement drawn up by the great powers in 1864 having for its object the amelioration of the condition of wounded soldiers after a battle, and the protection of all who aid wounded men. In 1868, at a second conference held at Geneva, the original convention was amended, but the amendment so made was never formally ratified. Still, this amendment was accepted, and acted upon by Germany and France in the year of 1870, and there seems to be a tacit agreement that the precedent so established is to be maintained. It may therefore be held that the terms of the convention are capable of being enforced by setting up of a precedent. The seventh clause of the original and duly ratified convention of 1864 provides that the details shall be left to the commanders of the respective armies. What is now asked is that in all future wars the commander-in-chief shall agree that men detailed to attend to the animals shall have the same protection as those who succour wounded men. If this be done a new precedent will be established, which will probably become as authoritative as other provisions which are now in full force. General Dubois, who appeared much interested in the proposal, said the object of the society was most praiseworthy, and deserving of all possible encouragement. General Dubois added that it would give him much pleasure to lay the matter before the president of the republic, who, he was sure, could not fail to give the proposal his cordial approval.

FIGHTING AT MACHADOPORE.
London, Aug. 28.—A special despatch from Pretoria, dated August 27, says: "It is stated that fighting with Botha's commandoes was resumed this morning. The Boers' lines were broken and the enemy is falling back. The British casualties are reported to be considerable."

Lord Roberts reports under date of Belfast, August 27, as follows: "Our movements are slow on account of the extent and nature of the country. To-day we made a satisfactory advance and met with decided success. The work fell entirely to Buller's troops and resulted in the capture of Bergendal, a very strong position. I met Buller at Bergendal shortly after it was reached by our troops. I am glad to find the occupation cost less than was feared on account of the approach being across an open glacial for two or three thousand yards, and the determined stand of the enemy. The Infantry, and Second Rifle Brigade formed the attacking party. The latter suffered most. I hope the casualties do not exceed fifty or sixty. One officer was killed and two wounded. A good many Boers were killed and a pom-pom (quick firing gun) captured."

"French advanced on the left to Swart's kopjes on the Leydenburg road and prepared the way for the movement of Pole-Carew's division to-morrow."

Lorenzo Marques, Aug. 28.—Heavy fighting is reported to have occurred at MachadoPORE. The Boers are said to have been defeated, and were seen leaving their guns and ammunition in the hands of the British.

GEN. OLIVER CAPTURED.
London, August 27.—The war office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts: "The Boers have been beaten back by Bruce Hamilton at Wynburg. General Oliver has been captured."

The text of Lord Roberts' despatch announcing the capture of General Oliver shows that three of Oliver's sons also were captured in the attack which the Boers made from three sides of Wynburg. Lord Roberts adds that General Oliver was "the moving spirit among the Boers in the southwestern portion of the Orange river colony during the attack."

THE STRATHONA PRISONERS.
The Lacombe Advertiser publishes a letter from Col. Steele, of the Strathcomas, to C. T. Dayken, of Lacombe, giving an account of the capture of his son, Alfred Dayken, by Boers. The letter is as follows: "Dear Sir, I regret very much to inform you that whilst patrolling on the right flank of a column under Gen. Dayken, your son, Alfred Dayken, was taken prisoner by the enemy. The party in which your son was doing duty was advancing on a kopje which proved to be occupied by a large force of the enemy. Four of the horses were shot and the men taken and two others wounded. From information received from the Boer camp I understand that the prisoners are all being well treated."

The Medicine Hat News rises to remark that "when Medicine Hat can muster up courage to turn down a con show, something should be said for the discriminating perceptions of our people."

A large number of agricultural implements have been sold this season and a good business is being done along the line of carriages, etc.

A number of delegates visited us recently spying out the country.

The storm which visited us recently has not done damage to any extent. In some places the grain being heavy was flattened out, which will make it more difficult to harvest, but will not cause it to lose in value.

Rev. T. C. Buchanan, of Edmonton, paid us a visit last week.

Miss Bray has returned to Calgary. Mr. Bray is taking a trip up north as far as Edmonton. He may locate in Wetaskiwin.

W. Burris left here for a trip which will include British Columbia and after his former home in Nova Scotia. His son and daughter will take charge of the post office in his absence.

CANADA'S NEW TRANSCONTINENTAL LINE.

Toronto World.

Mr. Mackenzie said, in an interview at Winnipeg a few days ago, that it is expected the Rainy River line to connect with the Southwestern terminus will be completed in 1901. Sixty miles of rails, he said, have been laid in the west and 120 miles of grading has been finished and is ready for the laying. There is now in the neighborhood of 2000 men at work, but Mr. Mackenzie will increase that number by 1000 during the fall and winter months. The Saskatchewan section to connect with Prince Albert will be completed during the fall of 1901.—Exchange.

It is not 20 years since Northern Ontario has been opened up for settlement and development. Previous to the construction of the C. P. R. the country now traversed by that line in Northern Ontario was practically inaccessible. And the growth of Canada westward from Lake Superior to the Pacific is due almost entirely to the Canadian Pacific Railway. From Ottawa to Vancouver we have a belt of territory, varying in width at different points that has been settled by prosperous farmers, miners and merchants. At the end of two decades the Canadian Pacific Railway finds itself one of the most prosperous railway corporations on the continent. It is paying 5 per cent. on its common stock after meeting every obligation it has undertaken to pay. Little wonder then that that start has been made in the construction of a new transcontinental line through a belt of territory still further to the north of the tract traversed by the C. P. R. Sub-Arctic Canada is about the only part of North America that has not been exploited. But its day has come, and the most active development in railway construction during the next five or ten years will undoubtedly be along and through our Sub-Arctic country. Already in the west we have gone up as far as climate conditions will permit. The Yukon country is now quite accessible, although ten years ago the possibility of our having railways and telegraphs in this far northern region never entered the imagination of the most visionary optimist. Within a few years we will have railway communication with Hudson Bay. Between the Yukon in the west and Hudson Bay in the east, we have a thousand of great possibilities, whether viewed from an agricultural or mining standpoint. A transcontinental line giving access to this belt of country has been started, and there is no reason why its construction should not proceed continuously so that within five or ten years Canada will have its second Pacific railway. As the construction of the C. P. R. and the settlement of the country opened up by it is responsible for the prosperity that now prevails in Canada, so the construction of a second transcontinental line through the far north will prove equally beneficial to the country. There is no reason why dull times should strike this country for the next 20 years. The country traversed by the C. P. R. has only got a fair start, while that tributary to the proposed new transcontinental system is a virgin territory awaiting the presence of millions of capital and millions of settlers.

TERRIBLE STORM IN THE WEST.

Souris, Aug. 29.—The worst storm ever witnessed in this district passed over here last night, leaving many evidences of its effectiveness. About ten o'clock clouds began to gather in the west, and the lightning flashed incessantly. About two hours afterwards the storm reached here, accompanied by rain, hail and a terrific hurricane of cyclonic nature, causing considerable damage throughout the town and district. In town the Sowden rink, a building about 25 by 160 feet, was lifted off its foundation and carried about the width of itself, where it collapsed. The other large skating and curling rink, belonging to the Souris rink company, also suffered, the north end being blown in about three feet at the bottom, and a piece about fifteen feet square torn out of the roof. The fence around the turf club grounds is all down and the grand stand turned upside down. The tower of the Roman Catholic church and the top of the front of Crawford's brick store was also blown down as well as the smokestacks of Sowden's and Deyell & Co's elevators. Several windows were blown in, as well as a number of houses are now short of chimneys. Farmers arriving in town this morning report considerable damage to outbuildings, while hardly a stalk of grain is left standing, but is scattered in all directions.

Whitehead, Aug. 29.—A cyclone struck this town about 8 o'clock last night, and demolished most of the town.

Thornhill, Aug. 29.—One of the most severe electric storms of the season passed over this district last night, doing considerable damage. A stable containing eleven horses, belonging to Mr. M. Nichol, of Cliff Mountain, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Not one of the horses escaped.

A storm believed to have been of serious character swept over the country between Deloraine, Napinka, and as far west as the Rocky Mountains. All the C. P. R. wires were broken down, and the extent of the damage is not yet known. The Millwood valley on the northwest section of the C. P. R. was also visited and considerable damage is believed to have been done there also.

Virden reports the roofs blown off several buildings, and great damage to crops.

Moosomin reports barns destroyed and a house overturned, injuring the inmates. Also great damage to crops.

Elkhorn reports houses partly blown down.

At Oak Lake the C. P. R. platform was blown over, the roof blown off the Leland Hotel, the brick veneer blown off a church in course of construction, and crops badly damaged.

Thornhill and Pilot Mound, Southern Manitoba, reports a severe visitation.

CONSUMPTION SANITORIUM.

Medicine Hat News: Dr. Calder and some parties who are interested with him in the scheme, have a proposition on foot for the establishment of a consumption sanatorium at Medicine Hat, based something upon the principles of the sanatorium at Gravenhurst, Ont. The proposition includes the building of several cottages upon the hill above the town, which would be occupied by patients or those seeking the benefits which consumption obtain in our climate. For years it has been known that at Medicine Hat we have an ideal climate for those suffering from lung or catarrhal troubles. A number of cases could be cited where our climate has brought new health to sufferers, some of them coming here after trying Colorado, California, the Southern middle states and other famous climates, and claiming more for our district than for these far advertised health resorts. The proposition is one which fits in with the natural advantages of the town and district, and hence has reasonable assurance of success.

THAT STORM.

MacLeod Advance, Aug. 28: Saturday of last week was a day of all days. The clerk of the weather must have been in ill humor, as the weather was more than disagreeable, wind, rain, sleet, and snow having visited us in turn during the day. Towards evening the clouds parted and for a few minutes Old Sol poured down his beaming rays upon a shivering world; but the clouds closed in again and the welcome visitor was suitably banished for the remainder of the evening. Light touch of frost on Sunday last.

BADEN-POWELL.

Lord Roberts reports on Aug. 27th as follows: Baden-Powell reports that he occupied Nylstroom without opposition. As the country where he and Paget are operating is a dense bush and yeld it is not desirable at the present to proceed further north and their troops are returning to Pretoria.

Commissioner Herchmer's report of police operations to the department, contains the following mention: "The crop of oats, except in the Edmonton district, has not been a good one, and three-quarters of our police oats come from there, underselling the local growers."

PORT ARTHUR AND PORT WILLIAM.

Rat Portage Mirror.

The editor of the Mirror spent several days at the Canadian head of the lakes last week and is glad to say that the towns of Port Arthur and Port William are taking a new lease of life, especially so as to the former, and new buildings and public improvements are going forward in both places.

A year ago Port Arthur was in the dumps. The town had an air of being on the down grade. There was no stir; no business or rather activity. The sidewalks were made of lumber, rotten and broken. The piers, once the scene of bustle, from the traffic of incoming and out-going steamers and other craft, were deserted and going to decay. The town was a mass of brick and stone ruins of buildings devastated by fire were standing just as left by fires of years ago, a menace to the unwary pedestrian, and a warning to the intending investors that the town, if not dead, was at least hypnotized by the C.P.R. into a long sleep, the result of the quarrel with that corporation, which also was responsible for the up-building of its hated rival, Port William.

To-day all the above is changed. The business of the people has given way to cheerfulness, to hope, to confidence, to action. The tumbled-down sidewalks have been and are being replaced by broad stone pavements that would be a credit to any city. The old fire-smoked and damaged walls are being replaced by new, substantial stone and brick business blocks. New brick business blocks are going up, others are in contemplation or in the hands of contractors. New hotels are being erected and the old stand-bys, like the Great Northern and the Algoma, are being improved, the former by putting in a steam-heating plant at a cost of $6,000, and with other improvements on that hotel that will bring the cost well up to $20,000. A number of new residences are going up, the hospital is being enlarged, and, perhaps the best of all, from the standpoint of an investor, is the fact that the town is on a cash basis. Every dollar's worth of work being done by the town is paid for in bank cheques.

In short, Port Arthur today comes pretty near being as good a town as Rat Portage, the only difference in our favor, being that we possess a splendid waterworks and sewerage system, something not yet undertaken by that town. Its rival, Port William, however, has both, and is now enlarging its sewerage plant, which is an expensive pumping system, on account of it being situated on low wet ground. Port Arthur, on the contrary, is situated on high and dry ground and boasts of a natural surface drainage, which meets the present requirements of the town.

The reader may enquire what has brought about the changed conditions in the welfare of Port Arthur? Well, briefly, it is because of the location of the eastern terminus of the new Ontario & Rainy River railroad in Port Arthur, which also is to be the seat of all its car shops and other works, and headquarters of the entire new railway system that eventually will extend from Port Arthur to Port Simpson on the Pacific coast, with branches to the Klondike and other portions of the great Canadian Northwest. It will be seen from this that the faith of the residents of Port Arthur is well founded, and that from now on an era of prosperity will continue to augment its growth and importance. Already there is talk of big wholesale establishments, a big water-power and kindred manufacturing interests with smelters for the iron, copper and silver ores that are tributary to the town in richness and abundance. It will be well in the future to "keep your eye on Port Arthur."

DINISPALE.

Free Lance.

The small pox scare has passed over and all danger, if any ever existed, is at an end—we are assured by the best medical authority. The circumstances of the whole affair as far as can be ascertained are these:

The man Lowe is supposed to have got the infection from his wife, who just came from the States, and called Doctor Thompson in to attend him during his indisposition. Dr. Thompson was unable to ascertain the true nature of his complaint and gave the man to understand that it was some mild disease, and allowed him to parade around town spreading the contagion, and it has been contagious until some party acquainted with small pox gave his opinion to the doctor that the man had that virulent disease. The doctor then ordered the man to remain on his own place, but as he had no means of providing himself with the necessities of life he disregarded the orders and continued his visits to town. Dr. Thompson then called his colleague from Red Deer for a professional opinion on the case which Dr. Denovair pronounced small pox and then steps were taken to acquaint the authorities with these facts. Had the case been small pox it would have surely spread, or else providence has been unusually gracious. Now, we are glad to say, all danger has passed.

The West, Regina: Last Wednesday evening a gentleman dressed in khaki uniform was a passenger on the Limited going west. It turns out that this same gentleman was a soldier returning from South Africa. Trooper Geo. Watson was on his way to Maple Creek, returning from taking part in the war. While in South Africa he was attached to Kitchener's staff.

BASEBALL.

The weather that greeted the Leduc baseballists, who drove in on Friday to meet the home team here, was showery and blustery, and on that account the game, which was called late in the afternoon, was called off on the understanding that it would take place the following forenoon. Saturday's weather was more favorable, though a strong wind blew across the diamond making throwing and the judging of "flies" somewhat difficult. At 11 o'clock the teams lined up with Frank M. Gray as referee. Leduc went to bat, but went out with a run; Edmonton then made two. Leduc broke the record with six; Edmonton followed with three. The visitors then made four, and Edmonton got in six. In the fourth the visitors were whitewashed by doing the same thing for Edmonton, leaving the score in favor of the home team. Up to this the game was "anyones," and the playing had been rather loose on both sides. After this the tables turned and the opening of the fifth was the beginning of Leduc's downfall. They were again whitewashed and Edmonton got six men across the plate. In the sixth Leduc made two and Edmonton two; in the next the visitors scored one and the home team four; in the eighth Leduc failed to score, and Matthews' men tied up another four. The ninth was another whitewash for the visitors, leaving the score 13 to 27 in favor of Edmonton with an innings to spare.

Notwithstanding their defeat the Leduc players put up an exceptionally strong game for so new a team. F. Garrow, their pitcher, won the commendation of opponents and spectators alike for his very effective work. C. Hardy, who captained the team and played short stop, also did good work. The visitors were assisted by J. Samis, of the Sturgeon, and D. Cairney, of Edmonton, both of whom played well. Edmonton's game, except in the second and third innings, was very creditable. The Ball brothers are a trio hard to beat, and "Bilby" on short stop is a host in himself. Knox, Wilson, and Ingles, on the bases, played a sure and steady game. The batting of the players, in one or two instances, was weak.

The following were the respective teams:

Leduc	Edmonton

DEATH OF MR. SHERA'S MOTHER.

J. W. Shera, M. L. A., of Fort Saskatchewan, received word last week of the death of his mother, who resided near Regina. The Regina Standard of Aug. 29th, contains the following notice:

The death of Mrs. Shera, which is announced in this issue, was not altogether unexpected. The deceased lady had been in delicate health for two years. She came in from the family residence at Hedgesford about three months ago and has been here with her daughter, Mrs. Meadows, where she had constant medical attention. Last Sunday she felt fairly well but a sudden change on Monday released her from suffering.

Mrs. Shera was only of the early pioneers of Regina. Her husband arrived here early in 1882 and she came with the family in the autumn of that year. They owned a farm near where the government buildings now stand and erected thereon the first frame house in the Regina district. They afterwards removed to Hedgesford but were always in touch with numerous Regina friends. The husband, two sons, three daughters and nine grand children survive the deceased. The younger son is Mr. J. W. Shera, M. L. A., who is prominent both in politics and business. Richard is on the farm and the daughters are all married and comfortably situated.

Mr. and Mrs. Shera emigrated from Boyle, Roscommon County, Ireland, 33 years ago and resided in Toronto before coming west.

HARVEST.

Harvest is general throughout the district today. Sales of binders last week beat the record and the stock is nearly sold out. Twine is also nearly sold out and dealers are sending heavy orders in all directions for more twine. The price is 14¢ for pure manilla. The weather during the past week has been fairly good although threatening showers, and on Friday there were local showers. A great deal of cutting was in progress last week. Many fields are quite ripe, but a great many are still green. That is the slow cutting farmers expect that to do their best it will ripen as fast as they can cut it. The special demand for binders that week arose from the need of extra binders to get the crop off, and new binders in place of old ones. So far the binders at work have given a good account of themselves. The work is slow—but they are doing remarkably good work, all things considered, leaving very little on the field. It is of great importance that the crop be cut in good time. Some fields have been considerably since the storm, but others show very little change. Of course the flattened condition of the grain will retard ripening, but if we have favorable weather and enough of it, all will yet be well, except for the extra labor and expense of harvesting. Already far more machinery and twine have been sold than last year. Wheat is considerably further advanced than when harvest commenced last year, fully two weeks later than this year. That is harvest is as general as it was on the 15th, last year. But last year we had a particularly favorable fall.

THRESHING MACHINES.

The following list of threshing outfits sold by the Massy-Harris agency here is an indication of the increase of crop acreage this season and as well of the up-to-date methods of farming which prevail.

Chas. Topin and E. Menard, St. Albert, 25 horse traction, with self-feeder and blower.

Rev. Father Bouchard and brother, St. Pierre, 25 horse traction, with self-feeder and blower.

Urban Verreux, Sturgeon, 29 horse traction, with self-feeder and blower.

A. Bernier, Lamoureux, 25 horse traction engine, only.

A. H. McDonald, Riviere Qui Barre, 16 horse traction engine, only.

Frank Gorak, Sandy Lake, 8 horse power outfit.

POLICE COURT.

At St. Albert on Tuesday, Joseph Dion was sentenced by Justices Hebert and McKenney to six months at Fort Saskatchewan, as a vagrant. Dion also showed evidence of an unsound mind.

At the mounted police barracks here, yesterday, Wm. Daigault, a half-breed of Strathcona, was sent by McDougall and Larue, J. P., to Fort Saskatchewan to await the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor. Daigault is afflicted with periods of dangerous mania. He has been in the habit of late, of chasing his wife and family out of the house with a butcher knife and then taking to the woods himself to wander for days. When arrested by Const. Fleming he had just driven his wife out and was seated, half naked, on the floor. He will be further dealt with on receipt of instructions from the lieutenant-governor.

Mrs. Walker, a colored lady residing near the bridge, had one Joseph Cummings arrested for stealing her watch and chain and $35 in cash. Cummings was committed for trial, by J. A. McDougall, J. P.

Amable Belanger, of Stony Plain, for willfully wounding a cow belonging to Hugh McLean, also of Stony Plain, was committed for trial on the 27th by John A. McDougall, J. P.

FIRE BUGS IN WINNIPEG.

The following extract from a report of a meeting of the Winnipeg board of trade is to say the least startling: Messrs. R. Strang, Allan, Woodman, and others representing the board of fire underwriters, waited on the board and called attention through Mr. Strang to the numerous fires which were taking place in Winnipeg, supposedly of incendiary origin. They had offered a reward of $500 for the capture of the miscreant. Tuesday night's fire had involved a loss of $40,000, $20,000 of this was borne by the insurance companies and $10,000 by the citizens.

PRIVATE STEWARD IN AFRICA.

The following incident in the work of the Strathconas is narrated in a letter written by Private John Stewart, late of Edmonton, to his sister in Strathcona, and published in the Plaindealer:

"A and B squadrons were sent out in the morning to escort a wagon back through a pass about five miles from here. A squadron were the advance B squadrons the reserve. A squadron got on the hills, had some fighting with the enemy. Lost 6 men with horses. We covered their retreat that time under fire. Then we drew back to a pond, watered our horses, when an Imperial officer said for some of us to ride to the top of the hill and see if we could see the enemy. Six of us including myself and the regimental Sergt. major were told off. We went over the level ground, some smoking, others as concerned as could be, never suspecting anything unusual. When we reached the foot of the hill the sergt. major said to put in the spur, ride up the hill and if we saw anything to wheel. We did so and when we were about half way up, bang, whizz, whurr! I had ridden right up to within 50 yards of over 200 Boers. Wheel! I should say so, but before, behind us, above and around us. How they did come! I ran and they after us until my horse was almost played out, the rest of the men had retired behind the railway line to a house. They returned the fire and when we seven reached them all safe, except one horse that fell rider safe, they could not understand it. We put our horses behind the house and went to the track and soon had the Boers stopped, 6 of them were killed or wounded. It was a miracle that we 7 were unhurt. Yesterday we were under shell fire from enemy. They are supposed to be surrounded on all sides. A general engagement will take place to-morrow; we'll be there."

STRATHCONA.

Plaindealer Aug. 31st.

Expectations are in progress for the erection by the Brackman-Ker Co. of a large warehouse just west of their mill and elevators.

Evidently the machine men have faith in Northern Alberta's big crop. Four carloads of threshing machines arrived on one train this week.

Mr. English, of the Waterloo Engine Works, Co., has been in Strathcona for a week trying to secure an order from the council for a gasoline fire engine. These engines have been thoroughly tested and are highly recommended.

Jackson Bros. are busy this week installing the machinery on the new steam ferry being built at Walter's yards by the Northwest government for use on the Saskatchewan at Battleford.

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 12th, there will be given in Ross Hall the National Operatic "Canada" by a company of 34 young people of Strathcona and Edmonton. The design of the operetta is to illustrate in costume, flower and song the various nationalities that make up the Canada of today. Sixteen young people of Strathcona will represent synopses, dryads and fays. All the national airs will be sung in both solo and chorus. Fancy drills and evolutions on extended stage. Musical Director, Mr. Augustus Bridle, late of Ontario, now choir master in the Presbyterian church, Edmonton. Programmes will be circulated next week.

MARKETS.

Oats, little being offered. The market remains steady with feed at 25c to 28c; milling 25c to 30c.

Wheat, no wheat is being bought, therefore prices cannot be quoted.

Hay, new hay is being plentifully offered at $5.00 per ton.

Hogs, live; the supply good; price 4 1/2-5c.

WETASKIWIN.

North Star, Aug. 29th.

O. O. Swanson, our friend the immigration agent, tells us that 15th lightning the other night struck two of his cows killing one outright and stunning the other.

The cattle buyers are all busy. Messrs. Speers & Harkness, for Gordon & Irmiside, seem to be getting most of the heavy ones. Burns & Co. are getting some of the two-year-olds, and Mr. Puffer, of Lacombe, Burns & Co.'s buyer, has secured nearly all the Buffalo lake steers.

Mr. Harkness reports to us that the damage to crops by hail is considerable in parts of the district visited by him recently.

The horses have been about all cut and the oats on many farms have been harvested. How is this for early, considering how far north we are?

Mr. Speers, buyer for Gordon & Irmiside, was weighing a heavy load of steers this week intended for the English market. Mr. Speers shipped six cat loads.

Wetaskiwin and its vicinity must indeed be a favored spot. Edmonton country was visited by a storm of snow which did great damage to the crops, while this section escaped altogether.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

Phonidealer: Yesterday afternoon Joseph Delemoncourt, the sixteen year old son of Mrs. Delemoncourt who lives in south end of Strathcona met with a painful and serious accident having his right hand shot off. He was out at one of the lakes near town shooting ducks and was accompanied by Master Victor Armstrong. The Delemoncourt boy had shot a duck and waded out after it leaving the gun with Victor. When he came back he wanted to take the gun, but the small boy wanted to have a shot and a scuffle for the gun ensued in which the weapon went off depositing the whole charge in Joe's hand. He at once went over to Mr. A. M. Campbell's and from there was brought into town by Dr. Archibald, who dressed the wound and took the boy over to the hospital where amputation of the hand was found necessary. The unfortunate boy showed great presence of mind and seemed to forget his own distress in thinking of his poor mother and family whose only support he is.

CREAMERY BUSINESS.

C. T. Daykin, writes as follows to the Plaindealer:—I am suggesting a creamery for that place instead of the present cream gathering station.

We have just distributed cream cheques for July. The amount of cream delivered for the month was 2777 tubs making 2558 pounds of butter, on which cheques for $244 have been paid. When the balance comes at the end of the season the total amount for July will be over $450. This is the largest amount ever paid here for one month's cream, but it is far short of what it should be. A district like this should produce twice as much. Nothing is so steady and sure in its return to the farmer as a number of good dairy cows. Grain is precarious at best and beef is too slow for most of us to wait for. At any rate a cream cheque coming every month will keep the pot boiling while crops and beef mature.

PARTY NOMINATIONS.

Four liberals were nominated yesterday: Duncan Graham, North Ontario; Robert Holmes, West Huron; Joseph Featherston, for Peel; Dr. Borden, Kings County, N. S.

Mr. C. H. Cahan, conservative, was nominated in Cumberland, N. S. T. W. Taylor or A. J. Andrews are mentioned as the possible conservative candidates in Winnipeg at the approaching federal elections.

It may be gathered from the editorial columns of the Winnipeg Telegram that that journal is not by any means pleased with the result of the recent Alberta liberal convention held at Calgary. But the convention was not held for the purpose of pleasing the Telegram. And the fact that that journal is not pleased is about as good evidence of the success of the convention as could be. The fault found by the Telegram is that the liberals of Alberta were unanimous in their choice and that they are being supported in that choice from the outside as well as a matter of fact by the Winnipeg Free Press, the hated rival of the Telegram. The Telegram is at some pains to show up the points of difference—actual and alleged—between the different parties, parties and interests which on that occasion (while agreeing to differ on some subjects) united on a candidate and a policy for 144,000. The fact that the Telegram is not pleased will not cause any loss of sleep to the parties concerned. The business of the Telegram is to if possible secure the defeat of the nominee of the convention. That being the case it is no wonder that it should find so much fault with the unity of purpose animating the convention which is the first essential of success. The Telegram's unfriendly criticism is the greatest compliment it could pay to all parties concerned in the convention.

THE CANADIANS WANTED.

Lord Roberts has called attention to the difference in the terms of enlistment between the English volunteer corps and the Canadian regiments. The former, it appears, were enlisted for one year or for the duration of the war, whereas the term of service for Canadians was for one year, terminating on October 18. The commander-in-chief asks that the Canadians be permitted to remain in South Africa for two or three months after the expiration of their term of enlistment.

CANADIAN INVALIDS.

The Canadians, Australians and other invalid colonial officers who are occupying the convalescent home established for them in a huge farm house near Sandringham by the Prince and Princess of Wales, are having the time of their lives. The home, which is under the personal supervision of the princess, has been fitted up and decorated with many luxurious things from her own home, including a piano, lounges, chairs and fine china. The best of wine from the royal cellar, and every delicacy of the season is served on the table, while wagnettes and dogcarts from the royal stables and the billiard room at Sandringham are placed at the disposal of the inmates at all times. Garden parties and afternoon teas are frequent.

Olds Oracle: Various opinions are entertained by the farmers as to the extent of damage done to crops by Saturday's storm. Quite a large proportion of oats and barley had been cut so of course was unharmed. It is impossible at this time to say what percentage of the standing grain has been destroyed, but it is small.

Olds Oracle: A delegation of 40 home-seekers from Missouri and Kansas in charge of Agent Crawford, is spying out Alberta. Twenty of the number stopped off at Olds on Monday, while Mr. Crawford with the other half of the delegation went on intending to take in the north country first and look this district over on their return. In the afternoon Mr. Olmeyer got out three double rigs and drove 425 visitors over the country east of town. The Americans expressed themselves as being pleased and a number declared their intention of locating. On Tuesday morning they were driven out west of town but had to hurry back to catch Tuesday's north bound train.
